DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement filed January 30, 2006 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(1), which requires the following: (1) a list of all patents, publications, applications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office; (2) U.S. patents and U.S. patent application publications listed in a section separately from citations of other documents; (3) the application number of the application in which the information disclosure statement is being submitted on each page of the list; (4) a column that provides a blank space next to each document to be considered, for the examiner's initials; and (5) a heading that clearly indicates that the list is an information disclosure statement. The information disclosure statement has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter, which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. In the specification it is not define as what is meant by the term an "Object".

Art Unit: 2875

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lary (US 5,9114,494) in view of Lozar (US 4,298,913).

Regarding claims 1 and 3, Lary ('494) discloses a light emitter 10 with a cap with removable halide light having a casing forming a body 11, a switch means 25, a plurality of lamps 34, a battery 26 located in the interior of the case (figure 2), a clip 16, 21 located at the upper portion of the housing and figure 3 shows how the light emitter is detachably engaged with to a visor of a leisure cap 13.

Regarding claim 2, Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary 10th edition defines a hat as: a covering for the head having a shaped crown and brim (see figure 1 of Lary).

Regarding claim 4, Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary 10th edition defines a visor as: a projecting front on a cap for shading the eyes (15, figure 1 of Lary).

Regarding claim 5, Lary shows in figure 2 how that light emitter 10 is attached to the visor of the cap by means of hook and loop (22, 21) fastener that can be attached by pushing the light emitter on the visor and removed by pulling the light emitting of the visor.

Regarding claim 6, Lary teaches in column 1, lines 49-60 that the lamps provide a range that is the same as a view angle of the user.

Regarding claims 1 and 7 Lary does not show a light emitter having a clip provided on an upper side of the outer surface of the casing 11 to provide an elastic force

Regarding claims 1 and 7, Lozar discloses an illumination apparatus having crown or dome 13 and visor 14 a light emitter 100 and a clip 95 having an elastic force (column 4, lines 49-54).

Therefore it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the clip type light emitter of Lary having a plurality of lights with the illumination apparatus of Lozar in order to provide a means of removably mounting the light emitter the cap or other areas of clothing to provide illumination in different area and heights.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1 regarding the 102 rejection of Lary have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection of Lary in view of Lozar.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
